What is the population of students participating in the dual language immersion program?		How many years are emergent bilingual students intended to participate before being prepared for reclassification based on the instructional model?
One-Way	Two-Way	Late Exit	Early Exit
Identified emergent bilingual students with the same partner language	Identified emergent bilingual students with the same partner language AND English proficient students	Not earlier than six or later than seven years after enrollment in school	Not earlier than two or later than five years after enrollment in school
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Instruction may begin with a majority percentage of the language other than English OR may begin at an equal half with English but will eventually attain an equal half, 50/50, of instruction in both languages through the duration of the program. As EB students are reclassified as English proficient, it is intended for these students to remain in the dual language immersion program through its duration to support the goals to gain bilingualism and biliteracy, academic achievement in both languages, and biculturalism with sociocultural competence. Instruction utilizes CBLI methods: Second Language Acquisition, Culturally and Linguistically Sustaining Practices, and Diversified Supports. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Instructions designed to shift from majority partner language to majority English to align with goal for number of years until reclassification. If EB students have not been reclassified within five years of enrollment, the transitional bilingual program continues to be offered to these students through the duration of the elementary grades.
