

Texas Effective Dual Language Immersion Framework

Revised October 2023

TxEDLIF Levers

Lever 1 Leadership & Family and Community Empowerment

District and Campus leadership understands and supports DLI program fidelity, students, family, and community empowerment through quality staffing and PD, development of biliterate curriculum, assessments, and resources that ensure ongoing program fidelity and long-term student success.

Lever 2 Program Model and Design

DLI program clearly prioritizes emergent bilingual students, has a clear language and content allocation plan, and ensures 50% of instruction in partner language.

Lever 3 Staffing and Professional Development

Proactive staff recruitment, continuous professional development, and data-driven targeted professional development plans based on DLI program goals and partner language.

Lever 4 Lesson Planning and Methods

Objective-driven daily lesson plans with asset-based, culturally and linguistically sustaining practices, and data-driven, rigorous, hands-on, scaffolded instruction.

Lever 5 Curriculum and Resources

Inclusive and collaborative development of a biliteracy curriculum, biliterate assessments, and biliterate resources aligned to DLI program goals.

Texas Effective Dual Language Immersion Framework's (TxEDLIF's) Rubric

Purpose: The TxEDLIF's rubric provides Local Education Agencies (LEAs) with a tool for self-evaluation of their DLI program effectiveness. This rubric, along with the Success Criteria and Self-Review Scorecard, is intended for internal use for determining the next steps for the development and continuous improvement of DLI programs at the campus and district level.

Organization: The TxEDLIF's rubric has five levers that are critical in the effective implementation and sustainability in high-performing DLI campuses. Each lever consists of essential actions and foundational key dual language practices.

Lever 1: Leadership & Family and Community Empowerment	Lever 2: Program Model & Design	Lever 3: Staffing & Professional Development	Lever 4: Lesson Planning & Methods	Lever 5: Curriculum & Resources
Vision & Mission	Teacher Certification	Recruitment	Lesson Plans	Curriculum Standards

TxEDLIF Rubric Use

In each lever of the rubric, the scale develops from left to right, detailing performance levels from Established, Exceeds, and Exemplary Implementation. The rubric is organized by essential actions and described with key dual language practices. Each level builds upon the experiences of the previous one.

When conducting a program evaluation using the rubric, use the associated Success Criteria Self-Review Scorecard for the associated TxEDLIF lever to mark each key dual language practice as Established Implementation, Exceeds Implementation or Exemplary Implementation. Once each lever is scored, the aggregated calculation will be calibrated to provide the total DLI Self-Review Score. The total will give the campus and district a quick analysis of their current overall implementation.

Expected Levels of DLI Program Implementation

Established

This level describes the DLI Program as implemented moderately well overall, but there are multiple areas of improvement in order to achieve access to equitable instruction and long-term academic achievement for participating emergent bilingual students.

Exceeds

This level describes the DLI Program as implemented remarkably well overall, but there are some areas of improvement in order to achieve access to equitable instruction and long-term academic achievement for participating emergent bilingual students.

Exemplary

This level describes the DLI Program as implemented exceptionally well overall, and there are few, if any, areas of improvement in order to achieve access to equitable instruction and long-term academic achievement for participating emergent bilingual students.

The dual language program is run in grades PK-3 only.

The students served are mostly emergent bilingual students.

Newcomers are not offered the dual language program.

Some students learning English are exited from the dual language program after they are reclassified.

The dual language program runs through the grade levels of the elementary schools.

The students served are mostly emergent bilingual students.

Newcomers are offered the dual language program in grades PK-1st.

Reclassification of some emergent bilinguals happens, but the school does not encourage or discourage reclassified students to stay in the program.

Programming beginning at PK, K or 1st and continuing to roll up each year and through 5th or 6th grade. Students receive a recommendation to continue in a dual language secondary program.

Primary language English speakers can enroll in the dual language program for all grades PK-12.

Newcomers who speak the partner language enter the dual language program at all levels.

Re-classification of some emergent bilinguals, but there is “no” exiting.

Program Content Goals

Content instruction is based on the district’s curriculum. There are steps taken to support a second language. The goals of bilingualism, biliteracy and sociocultural competences are shared by some of the staff.

Content instruction is rooted in culturally and linguistically sustaining practices, communicated, sequenced and scaffolded to ensure high academic achievement in one language. The goals of bilingualism, biliteracy and sociocultural competence are valued.

Culturally and linguistically sustaining practices, linguistically accommodated content instruction and design that is communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded to ensure high academic achievement in both program languages, bilingualism, biliteracy and sociocultural competence.

Program Culture Goals

There is a limited plan that addresses sociocultural competence. Some teachers address this goal in their classroom.

A plan exists that addresses the development of sociocultural competence and elevates biliteracy, among all stakeholders.

Opportunities for stakeholders to be involved in creating a plan that addresses the development of sociocultural competence and elevates biliteracy, among all stakeholders, including teachers, school staff, administrators, and community members.

The school modifies the district curriculum to incorporate sociocultural competence when appropriate.

Systems for the selection of linguistically appropriate and culturally and linguistically sustaining instructional materials exist.

Systems in place for the selection of appropriate culturally & linguistically sustaining instructional materials and sociocultural competence skills and their thoughtful integration into the curriculum.

Program Language and Literacy Goals

28.0051\(a\)
89.1210 \(c\)\(3\)\(c\)\(4\)

The language allotment time is not consistent in all classrooms.

The language allotment time is consistent across grade levels, but not cohesively across the school.

An equal allotment of oral language and literacy “development” time in both languages (50/50 model) is provided, or initially in the partner language (90/10, 80/20 model) and then allotted equal time in both languages once the program reaches a 50/50 division of instruction in the two languages.

The understanding about the importance of translanguageing and print in both languages exists with some adults in the program, but not all.

There is an asset-based lens on students’ translanguageing, but little attention to the strategic use of instructional languages.

An asset-based lens on students’ translanguageing and print in both languages, but a strategic use of language of instruction is upheld.

The school gives professional development provided by the district or a general education provider.

Professional development occasionally includes modeling, practice, and reflection.

The professional development plan is one year.

Board members and administrators must identify their own professional development

There is regular schoolwide professional development provided monthly to all adults.

A three-year plan for professional development differentiated by teacher experience.

Professional development, focused on the specific administrator role, targeting the best practices of dual language for board members, administrators, and others in a position to make decisions about the dual language program.

General Education Coordination

89.1210 \(b\)\(f\)

There is limited coordination between the programs, but often after the general education plans are created.

Cross-collaboration rarely takes place.

There is consistent coordination between the general education and dual language program in at least three of these areas: planning, offering professional development, allocating resources, and providing access to electives, interventions, and accelerations.

Cross-collaboration is supported when teachers initiate it.

Coordination considers a view of all students' needs, including those in a dual language program. This includes planning, offering professional development, allocating biliterate resources and providing access to electives, differentiating strategies, and accelerations.

There is a system in place for cross-training, cross-collaboration, and communication between general education and dual language teachers.

There is limited evidence of culturally and linguistically sustaining practices using funds of knowledge to foster student voice, agency, and oral traditions.

Culturally and linguistically sustaining practices are inconsistently used by most DLI teachers as a collective and collaborative way of learning.

Culturally and linguistically sustaining practices are used in most DLI classrooms engaging students in critical issues related to strengthening equitable instructional systems for emergent bilingual students.

Culturally and linguistically sustaining practices include integration of funds of knowledge in most DLI classrooms to foster student voice, agency, and oral traditions.

Culturally and linguistically sustaining practices are student centered with collective and collaborative ways of learning in most DLI classrooms.

DLI classrooms use culturally and linguistically sustaining practices to foster “critical consciousness” by addressing issues related to strengthening equitable instructional systems for emergent bilingual students.

DLI classrooms use culturally and linguistically sustaining practices to integrate funds of knowledge that foster student voice, agency, and oral traditions.

Culturally and linguistically sustaining practices are student- centered with collective and collaborative ways of learning in the majority of DLI classrooms.

Content Based Language Instruction

DLI students are not consistently engaged through cooperative learning based on cognitive and linguistic skills.

There is limited evidence that the DLI program has clear biliteracy integration of content, language, and literacy instruction in both languages.

There is limited evidence that the DLI program has clear and consistent use of language and vocabulary cross-linguistic connections to make authentic and meaningful connections.

DLI students are engaged through cooperative learning based on cognitive and linguistic skills in most DLI classrooms.

DLI program has clear biliteracy integration of content, language, and literacy instruction in both languages in most DLI classrooms.

Although the DLI program has clear and consistent use of language and vocabulary cross- linguistic connections, it is not well known across all DLI classrooms.

In most DLI classrooms, DLI students are consistently engaged in contrastive analysis and metalinguistic knowledge across languages.

DLI students are engaged in contrastive analysis and metalinguistic knowledge across languages.

Authentic Biliteracy Development Across Content Areas

Although DLI teachers have common understanding that language is also learned through content and provides explicit language strategies to support biliteracy development, it is implemented in few DLI classrooms.

There is common understanding by most DLI teachers that language is also learned through content and provides explicit language strategies to support biliteracy development and consistently implemented in some DLI classrooms.

There is common understanding by DLI teachers that language is also learned through content and provides explicit language strategies to support biliteracy development and consistently implemented in DLI classrooms.

Although the DLI program supports biliteracy development with listening, speaking, reading, and writing in all content areas, it is implemented in a few DLI classrooms.

Although the DLI program supports biliteracy development with listening, speaking, reading, and writing in all content areas, it is not implemented in some DLI classrooms.

DLI program clearly supports biliteracy development in that listening, speaking, reading, and writing is incorporated by DLI teachers in all content areas and activities to build concepts and content-based language.

There is inconsistent integration of content TEKS, Language TEKS and Literacy TEKS in both languages across most DLI classrooms to facilitate deep and meaningful learning.

There is clear and consistent integration of content TEKS, Language TEKS and Literacy TEKS in both languages across DLI classrooms to facilitate deep and meaningful learning.

Although the DLI program recognizes the need for authentic literacy practices in the partner language that respects the structure of the language, few of the DLI classrooms address this issue correctly.

Although the DLI program recognizes the need for authentic literacy practices in the partner language that respects the structure of the language, only some of the DLI classrooms address this issue correctly.

The DLI program recognizes the need for authentic literacy practices in the partner language that respects the structure of the language and is addressed correctly in all DLI classrooms classrooms.

DLI Pedagogy

The DLI program promotes an “asset-based philosophy” that uses enrichment practices to provide accelerated growth in literacy development, however there is still significant use of remedial practices such as pullout and RTI.

DLI teachers are inconsistent with heterogeneously grouped students that are given high- quality classroom instruction, including differentiation.

In few DLI classrooms, there is evidence of effective instructional practices such as higher order thinking, scaffolding in both program languages, project based learning, and cross- linguistic connections.

DLI classrooms use effective instructional practices including higher-order thinking, evidence-based dual language instruction, scaffolding in both program languages, project-based learning, and cross-linguistic connections.

Language Use

89.1210 \(b\)\(2\)\(a\)
74.4\(a\)\(2\)\(c\)\(a\)\(4\)

Differentiated Instruction

89.1201 \(a\)
74.4\(b\)\(1\), \(a\)\(6\)

Some DLI teachers implement differentiated instruction “incorrectly” by providing varied “levels of instruction” according to student academic abilities.

Some DLI teachers implement differentiated instruction appropriately and provide “on-grade level instruction” to all students regardless of academic and linguistic level.

Teachers implement differentiated instruction appropriately by providing “on-grade level instruction” for all students regardless of academic and linguistic level and differentiate the strategy, methods, and techniques to support diverse students to learn at that level.

LEVER 5:

Curriculum and Resources

ESSENTIAL ACTION: Inclusive and collaborative development of a biliteracy curriculum, biliterate assessments, and biliterate resources aligned to DLI program goals.

Curriculum Standards

74.4\(a\)\(1\) 89.1201 \(a-b\)\(d\)

Curriculum is standards-based in both languages supporting bilingualism and biliteracy development but lacking embedded focus on sociocultural competence.

Curriculum is based on enriched education in both languages that includes digital resources and an emphasis on language diversity, but limited focus on equitable resources and literacy development across subjects in both languages.

Curriculum is standards-based in both languages supporting bilingualism and biliteracy development. There is evidence of a focus on sociocultural competence.

Curriculum is based on enriched education in both languages that includes digital resources and an emphasis on language diversity, and there is some focus on equitable resources and literacy development across subjects in both languages.

Curriculum is research and standards-based addressing the goals of bilingualism, biliteracy, strong academic achievement in both languages and an intentional intertwining of sociocultural competence.

DLI curriculum is challenging based on an enriched education that

- clearly promotes culturally and linguistically sustaining practices, linguistic diversity and equitable resources and literacy for all learners
- includes a scope and sequence for language and literacy development across subjects in both languages, and
- includes quality, digital biliterate resources in both languages.

Resources

74.4\(a\)\(1\) 89.1201 \(a-b\)\(d\)

DLI curriculum has hands-on resources, but limited integration of culturally and linguistically sustaining practices and authentic biliterate resources in both languages.

Literacy resources generally do not accurately reflect the structure of literacy (reading & writing) in the partner language.

Partner language resources are mostly translated from English versions.
